PROOF FROM GRAVE LEADS SON TO ADMIT PARRICIDE!

Bones, Boiled, Discolor, After Which Youth Confesses

ANCIENT PROCESS

Killed Wealthy Rice Dealer To Get Money With Which To Gamble

Probably the most sensational climax to any criminal proceedings ever taken in Shanghai came yesterday in an open compound in the Chinese City when Chang Shen-sung, at the conclusion of four separate trials occurring within six hours, finally broke down and confessed that he had murdered his own father, Chang Ka-yung, thirteen months ago in Pootung. The confession came after the accused had been confronted with the discolored bones of his father's body which had been taken from the disinterred corpse three days ago and placed in a boiling kettle of water in the compound in the presence of throngs of intent spectators.

Yesterday morning Chang, who was arrested in the International Settlement last Saturday, was brought before the Mixed Court, where an application for his handing over was made on behalf of the Chinese authorities. While these proceedings were taking place the Procurators of the Chinese City were already, upon the scene in Nantao where the post mortem proceedings had been started. A great crowd surrounded the fenced-off space where the exhumed body had been examined and strained against the railings as Chief Procurator Tan examined the parcel of bones which the Chinese physicians had brought in and which, according to Chinese belief, would tell the tale as to whether the deceased had died a natural death or had been poisoned. After a preliminary examination the Procurator placed the bones in a large kettle of boiling water, as the watching hundreds hung breathless to await the result.

At 11 a.m., the Mixed Court action having been brought to a close, Chang Shen-sung, his wife and two sons were brought to the scene in a motor car.

IMMEDIATE TRIAL

The case was immediately set for hearing by the Procurators, Tan and Kuo, and the accused was brought before the Court—which was seated in a matshed in the compound—and evidence was adduced.

Chang, who was handcuffed, denied any connection with his father's death. For two hours he was subjected to a grilling volley of questions by the Court and remained firm in his denials. Then the Court retired.

The Police Magistrate took up the inquisition at this point. In reply to his questionings Chang said that he preferred to make his statement in writing, and dictated a long account. Most of it was irrelevant, but in one passage he declared that Chu Chao-sung—the man who filed the charge of murder with the City police—had invited him to join in a gambling session early in 1918 and had suggested that the accused murder his father in order to get possession of the wealthy rice merchant's money. Chang stated that he had ignored the suggestion, but that a few days later Chu approached him again and, pressing the proposal, gave him a packet of "red medicine." This, Chang declared, he afterward threw into a cesspool at the rear of the teashop of which Chu was proprietor. Chang reiterated his denial that he had murdered his father and charged Chu with maliciously plotting against him.

SECOND TRIAL HELD

At 2:30 p.m. the second trial began and Procurators Tan and Kuo took cognisance of the statement which Chang had made to the Police Magistrate. Chang's wife was then brought before the tribunal. Procurator Huo told her that following the filing of charge he had conducted an investigation and had found that her husband's father had been in perfect health up to the day of his death and that the circumstances strongly indicated murder.

As Chang's wife, the official contended, she must have known that something was wrong. The wife refused to make any statement. Whereupon the Magistrate

Her Bow Legs Made Straight By Chicago Surgeon

Side View of Miss Gordon Which Concealed Her Misfortune.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—When the plaster casts were removed from the erstwhile bow legs of Ruth Gordon, an actress, who had each leg broken in two places so they could be straightened, Dr. Edwin Ryerson pronounced them "perfectly straight."

It will be a few weeks more before she can leave her wheel chair, Dr. Ryerson said today, but Miss Gordon smiled happily at the doctor's verdict. Six weeks ago she won Dr. Ryerson's consent to perform the operation, not because of vanity, she said, but because her legs compelled her to wear long dresses on the stage and prevented hr from rising in her profession.

GOLDEN STATE IS DUE HERE ON TENTH OF APRIL

First Pacific Mail "535" Sails For Shanghai From San Francisco

The first of the 535-foot ships constructed by the United States Shipping Board for the trans-Pacific run will arrive in Shanghai on April tenth, when the Pacific Mail steamer Golden State, docks at the China Merchants Lower Wharf. According to advices received by the local Pacific Mail office yesterday, the Golden State left San Francisco on March nineteenth and is due in Yokohama on April fourth, reaching Shanghai six days later. The outward run will take 22 days via Honolulu, and the homeward voyage, on which the Golden State departs on April twenty-eighth, will be made in 19 days.

The Golden State, like its Pacific Mail sister ships, the Empire State, Palmetto State, Lone Star State, and Hoosier State, which are still in process of construction, is 535 feet in length, and 72 feet wide, with a gross tonnage of 13,500. It is equipped to carry 259 first class passengers, besides 300 in the steerage.

Palm gardens, music rooms, and four complete decks are a few of the luxuries promised to passengers on the new vessels. A tea-room with latticed walls, vaulted domes in the dining salon, open fireplaces in the social hall, full-length beveled edge mirrors in the bridge deck suites, and mahogany railings throughout the vessel will all help the traveler to forget that he has left his New York or San Francisco hotel.

FAMINE TAG DAY BRINGS $25,000 TO SWELL FUND

Students And Scouts Make Handsome Showing By Saturday's Effort

CANVASSING CONTINUES

Teams Will Solicit Contributions Until End Of The Month

A total of over $25,000 was collected for famine relief by the Chinese students' tag day efforts of last Saturday it is estimated by Chinese-Foreign Famine Relief Committee officials.

Nearly $21,000 has already been turned in by the schools and the Boy Scouts' troops and three schools, two of them among the largest participating in the tagging, are yet to be heard from.

On Sunday the contents of the bamboo banks and tins handed in Saturday night were counted by the staff of the China Bank—who voluntarily gave their services—and the collections were found to amount to $16,353.66. Yesterday the Boy Scouts, whose tins were actively receptive all day Saturday, turned in $4,359, bringing the total up to $20,892.

Today at 5 p.m. counting will be begun at the China Bank of the contents of the final batch of banks, some 500 in number. The schools which have not yet been checked are St. John's University, the Kaiser Wilhelm school and Fuh Tan College.

During the day yesterday canvassing teams were active throughout the city in general solicitation work and it is expected that the entire Settlement, Chapei, Nantao and Pootung will have been thoroughly gone over by the time the drive ends, March 31.

Opposition Holds Up Surcharge Planned On Steamer Fares

Because of the opposition of two of the foreign members of the Yangtsze Fare Syndicate, the surcharges to be made in aid of the famine fund on the fares of the steamship plying along the Yangtsze River have not been exacted. The original date, as decided by the Chinese compradores of the ships, who are members of the syndicate was fixed on March 9.

The exaction of the surcharges on the river fares was decided upon at a meeting of the representatives of the syndicate upon the motion of Mr. Sun Ti-chow, compradore of the Kiangwah, belonging to the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Co.

While it was brought out that difficulty in collecting this surcharges lies in the difference in the manner of collection as between the steamer and the railway lines, because passengers pay their fare for steamships along the Yangtsze after they get aboard, the meeting decided to pass the motion in compliance with public desire in this matter. Numerous letters had been received, it is stated, by the representatives of the syndicate, urging them to take this move.

HOPE FOR ADJUSTMENT

Following the decison of the syndicate, plans were formulated to carry this out. A committee approached the managements of the foreign companies for their co-operation, while a request was made with the International Famine Relief Committee to send representatives to supervise the work of collecting the surcharges.

Of the six companies who are members of the syndicate, four had made plans to collect the surcharges, which would amount to ten percent of the regular fare. They are the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Co., the Hung On Steamship Company, the Ningpo Shaoshing Steamship Company, the Ningpo Shaoshing Steam Navigation Co. and the Nisshin Kisen Kaisha.

The other members are the China Navigation Co. and Jardine, Matheson and Co.

The companies' reason for the opposition to the levy of the surcharges, as far as could be ascertained, is that the steamships are owned and controlled by the companies and the compradores who are merely employes of the companies, have no right in deciding the levy without getting the previous consent of the owners. Furthermore, they contend, the time has already passed when such a move was necessary.

The decision of the syndicate provides that no surcharges will

SH'GHAI ZIONISTS SEND GREETINGS TO CHURCHILL

A message of greeting to Mr. Winston Churchill, who has just left London on an important mission to Jerusalem, was cabled to Palestine today by the Shanghai Zionist Association. The cable, which is signed by Edward I. Ezra, chairman; Rabbi W. Hirsch; and N.E.B. Ezra, secretary, reads as follows:

"The Shanghai Zionist Association bids you hearty welcome in Israel's land and expresses confidence in the fulfilment of our two thousand years' old aspirations."

Control of the mandated territories, including Palestine, was recently transferred from the Foreign Office to the Colonial Office, of which Winston Churchill is minister. It is believed that the League of Nations will give its approval to the final text of the mandate next month.

According to the Jewish Correspondence Bureau, a special document in the form of a commentary has been prepared by the British government in co-operation with Zionist representatives, which covers the practical details arising in the execution of the mandate. The document is not of an international character and is favorable to Zionist aims.

SHAW LIBEL SUIT BASELESS, SAYS REA DEMURRER

Demurrers stating that the libel suit filed by Mr. George L. Shaw of Antung did not contain sufficient grounds to warrant legal action were presented yesterday in the United States Court for China today on behalf of the defendants, George Bronson Rea, publisher of the Far Eastern Review, and Patrick Gallagher, former editor of the publication.

Mr. Shaw's petition was directed against an alleged libelous article appearing in a recent issue of the magazine. Gallagher is represented by Judge Paul Myron Linebarger and Rea by the firm of Fleming, Davies, and Bryan. The case has been set for hearing in the United States Court for China on April eleventh.

ATHENS CROWDS CHEER FOR WAR; CLASSES CALLED

King, In Message, Declares Turks Are Trying To Nullify Treaty

MOBILISING, HE SAYS

Reinforcements Necessary To Insure Pacification Of Near East

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, March 20.—The 1913, 1914, and 1915 classes of recruits have been called to the colors to reinforce the Greek troops in Anatolia. Crowds in the streets are cheering for Greece and war. The King, in a message to the Greeks, declares that the Turkish Nationalists are again attempting to overthrow the situation established by the Treaty of Sevres, and are concentrating against the Greeks, and that reinforcements are necessary to protect the Greek populations and secure the definitive pacification of the Orient, which Greece is pursuing jointly with the Allies.

Paris, March 18 delayed.—A despatch from Constantinople states that Turkey is very well satisfied at the agreement reached in London between the Turkish, French and Italian representatives regarding the solution of the Cilician Syrian and Anatolian problems. Turkey states that the last British contention regarding Constantinople, the Dardanelles, Armenia and Kurdistan has now been met and that consequently all other questions between Turkey and the Allies are approaching a satisfactory solution for both parties. The only remaining point of difference preventing the establishment of peace in the Near East is the dispute between Turkey and Greece regarding Smyrna and Thrace.

GERMANS CARRY UPPER SILESIA BY HEAVY MAJORITY

Plebiscite Favors Them Overwhelmingly, Berlin Reports Say

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, March 21.—According to a Berlin message, the figures in the Upper Silesia plebiscite, in which the Polish and German inhabitants voted yesterday, to determine under which flag they desire to be governed, are already arriving, and show overwhelming German victories in several big towns. The Majorities are declared to range from 78 to 94 percent.

German semi-official figures received via Berne confirm this news.

The plebiscite passed off calmly, despite the fact that collisions were anticipated. Fears are, however, entertained, that the declaration of the poll will lead to violent outbreaks, which it will be the duty of the Allied detachments to repress. The General commanding these forces has captured 40,000 rifles since his arrival, but he says that both camps are still armed throughout the country.

The final decision as regards the future of this rich territory rests with the Supreme Council, but it is not unlikely that it will be split up, according to the national desire recorded in various contiguous areas.

SOUTH WINS 1ST SKIRMISHES IN SHENSI CLASH

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, March 21.—A staff correspondent of the China Press, telegraphing from Shensi, reports that Southern forces under General Kao gathered in strong formation north of the Wei river and defeated the Northerners in several skirmishes.

Tuchun Chen Shu-fan left Sianfu on the nineteenth, heading toward the Wei river. He was in charge of a strong Northern force and announced upon leaving that he either would unify the province or lose all.

ELEVEN SLAIN IN AMBUSH IN ERIN; FIGHT 3 HOURS

Exciting Struggle At Crossbarry, Near Bandon; Sinn Feiners Mine Road

THREE TRUCKS BURNED

Republican Army Officers Explain Organisation Of Rebel Army

London, March 19.—An exciting struggle lasting three hours occurred at Crossbarry, near Bandon, today. Three hundred Sinn Feiners mined the road and ambushed eight lorries containing police and military. Three lorries were burned and seven policemen and soldiers and four civilians were killed. Five soldiers, including two officers, one policeman and several civilians were wounded.

London, March 19.—The trial of fourteen men and one woman on charges of conspiracy in connection with the discovery of explosives and Sinn Fein documents at Glasgow, was concluded by the Justiciary Court at Edinburgh today. Four of the accused were acquitted; a verdict of not proven was returned in the case of two others. The remainder received sentences ranging from twelve months imprisonment to five years penal servitude, including the woman, who was sentenced to twelve months imprisonment.

Washington, March 18.—The action of army and navy officers in permitting troops to take part in the Evacuation Day parade at Boston, organised by advocates of Irish freedom, has been formally approved by President Harding, after a conference with the Secretary of State and the Secretary of War.

(By Associated Press)

Dublin, Feb. 15.—A high officer of the Irish Republican Army has given to the Associated Press a lengthy statement on the army and its operations.

The identity of the officer and the circumstances of the interview cannot be disclosed, nor is the correspondent permitted to publish the statistical information supplied regarding the total number of forces, both regular and "irregular," as the flying columns composed of men on the run are termed.

The officer Colonel X., began: "The Irish Republican Army dots the entire country. Our plan is to account for every district either by battalions or companies; every foot of ground is being surveyed and studied with reference to the most promising spots for ambushes and with regard to the dispositions of the Crown forces. The size of our forces varies according to the nature of the country and the number and character of the inhabitants. County Meath, for instance, is sparsely inhabited and the terrain is flat, making conditions for fighting unfavorable.

CARRYING OUT PLANS

"We are slowly but steadily carrying out our plans. It should be understood, however, that we must organise and train men for the work while we are engaged in fighting."

The unit of the organisation, according to the officer, is the company, whose full strength normally is 100 men, each company being practically self-containing and furnishing its own signalers, engineers and machine guns.

"The tendency, though," he continued, "is to operate in smaller units in areas like Ulster, where certain districts are either too thinly peopled or the population is hostile. We have only small groups engaged in reconnoissance and intelligence work. In some areas, where conditions are wholly favorable, the companies are formed into battalions and brigades. This is our regular army. The men on the run are somewhat similarly organised, but in small units. They work in conjunction with the regulars and are kept w armed, clothed and equipped. But the vast bulk of our men are not on the run. They are available for operations in the daytime, others at night."

Questioned as to who directed the attacks, Colonel X. replied: "If it be an attack on a barrack, or other major operation requiring a large number of men, the officers in the district must satisfy us at headquarters that it won't mean throwing away men or ammunition. In small operations, however, such as an attack on one or two lorries, or the seizure of military supplies on trains or roads, or raids on mails, the men act on their own initiative."

Colonel X. asserted that the organisation was growing rapidly and that it was easy to obtain recruits.

LENINE ADMITS FAILURE OF HIS SOVIET SCHEME; KRASSIN GAINS POWER

Red Dictator Fears He Has "Become Respectable;" Says Farmers And Capitalists Must Own Land Privately; Additional Trade Treaties Near

New York, March 20.—According to a New York Herald dispatch from Reval, Lenine has abandoned his Bolshevik program, in a remarkable speech given before the Tenth Communists' Congress.

Nobody was so mad, he said, as to expect a world revolution, and therefore, agreements with the Bourgeoise governments were indispensible.

Concessions, he said, would first be granted to Capitalists and farmers, who must be allowed to own their lands, and until big Socialist enterprises are established "ten years hence or more" private industrial enterprise must be permitted.

Nicolai Lenine.

Having heard of the completion of the British-Russo trade agreement and of the capture of Kronstadt on leaving the Congress, Lenine screwed up his eyes, in a comical fashion and said, "I fear I'm becoming respectable."

Lenine had complete control of the Congress, and carried the meeting with the Communists all with him on the abandonment question.

RUSSO-POLISH PACT GIVES BIG SUM TO POLAND

Soviet Agrees To Pay 30,000,000 Gold Roubles Within Year

(Reuter's Service)

Warsaw, March 19.—The final Russo-Polish treaty, which was signed at Riga last evening as the result of negotiations proceeding since November 12, last, provides that thirty million gold roubles be paid to Poland with'n a year. Other provisions are largely identical with those of the preliminary treaty which was signed in October last.

M. Domski, the chief Polish delegate, in a speech, declared that Poland had at length gained her independence and that she hoped to live on friendly terms with Russia. She would give freedom to all nationalities within her borders.

The Diet has voted the new Polish Constitution.

Note.—The terms of the Russo-Polish preliminary peace treaty, signed at Riga on October 12, provided inter alia: (1) Russia s recognition of Poland's claim for a substantial share of the Russian gold reserve, although the amount was not fixed. (2) The new Russo-Polish frontier to start slightly east of Dvinsk, run southward to Molodetchno, thence eastward to the Baranowice-Sarny-Rovno railway and finally southward to Mebrucz. This gave Poland an additional 150,000 square kilometers of territory the population of which is 4,500,000.

Paris, March 19.—French official opinion regarding the Treaty of Riga, signed yesterday, is that it establishes the eastern frontier of the Polish state in a definite manner which leaves no doubt that the terms of the treaty are based on a mutual agreement adopted in a spirit of good-will by both contracting parties. It is felt that the Polish nation will now be free to devote to the work of peace in all spheres the energy it has expended hitherto towards the maintenance of peace.

The general impression of observers in Russia is that the lands eventually will be divided among the peasants, proprietors and business interests headed by Krassin, will be allowed some power.

Although the newspapers here declares that the British trade agreement amounts to nothing since Russia has nothing with which to trade there is a strong movement afoot in the American business commnnity to induce Washington to follow London's example and to induce Mr. Hoover, the American Secretary of Commerce, to study the question.

The Consular forces of the Baltic States are being strengthened, and there is a possibility of some kind of trade pact being considered.

There has been no commercial treaty with Russia since 1910 when the old treaty was denounced owing to the Tsar's treatment of the Jews but the fact that war was not declared upon the Soviet government by the American government, but by Executive Order is being discussed with the possibility that Moscow might demand compensation for the damage done by American troops which shared in the Allied operations.

It is believed certain however, that Germany, Italy, and probably Japan will soon enter into economic relationship with Russia, and the United States cannot afford to be left behind.

Senator Borah is openly advocating the resumption of trade but the strongest factor in its favor is the urgent need of developing foreign markets for American goods, to which task Mr. Hoover is devoting all of his energies, with the view especially of setting on the threatened avalanche of imports.

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 19.—Interviewed in London, M. Krassin, the head of the Russian trade delegation, expressed the hope that the test case regarding Russian gold and also the two pending cases regarding the attachment of consignments of timber and potassium would be decided in the English courts next week. He said that, pending the decisions of the courts, all contracts, including even that with the Armstrong, Whitworth Company for the repair of Russian locomotives, had to be delayed owing to the risk of attachment, and that Russian locomotives were at present being repaired at Reval or in Germany.

M. Krassin declared that despite the difficulties of transport owing to the shortage of fuel, those who asserted that Russia had nothing to export would be surprised before the summer was finished.

A telegram from Reval states that M. Litvinoff (Former Soviet Envoy to Great Britain), in an interview expressed the hope that the signature of the trade agreement would lead to the centering of Russian foreign trade in London, but he remarked that the efficacy of the agreement depended on the good-will of the British Government. M. Litvinoff added that Russia had large stocks of flax, hemp, furs, timber and asbestos awaiting export.

New York, March 20.—According to Helsingfors advices, fugitives from Prinstadt have been reaching the Finnish frontier at Terijoki on foot and in sledges. The Finnish frontier guards are bringing in the wounded and helpless, and the American Red Cross workers in charge of supplies have promised to assist the refugees.

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

New York, March 20.—Count Sforza, the Italian Foreign Minister, informed the Chamber of Deputies (says a Rome despatch) that the negotiations for a trade agreement with Russia had been completed, and that a compact would be signed soon.

Washington, March 20.—Government officials, discussing the question of a change in American relations with Russia, said American foreign policy would be influenced by economic more than by political considerations. It was their belief that Bolshevism could not be destroyed by revolution, but must disappear through evolution.

New York, March 21.—According to a Moscow wireless message received in London, the town of Kronstadt, together with the forts and the fleet, are again in the hands of the Soviet.

BRITISH FLEET PAYS TRIBUTE TO U-BOAT DEAD

Fourteen Thousand Officers And Men Pause For Ceremony At Sea.

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 21.—A moving ceremony took place at sea yesterday afternoon, a hundred miles off the Scilly Isles, when fourteen thousand officers and men of the Atlantic Fleet, returning from the spring cruise, participated in a solemn service in memory of their comrades of the "K 5" the submarine which was lost with all hands on January 20, at the approach to the English Channel.

An Admiralty announcement, describing the ceremony, says that a force of six battleships, two battle-cruisers, six light cruisers, seventeen destroyers and an aircraft carrier, under the orders of Vice-Admiral Sir Sydney Freemantle, approached the scene of the disaster in an imposing formation. After the fleet had stopped engines as far as the typical sea-going weather would permit, the colors were lowered to half mast and a memorial service held aboard the flagship Revenge.

The rest of the fleet also held funeral services and various well-known hymns were sung. An aeroplane meanwhile circled round the fleet despite the difficult flying conditions. A party of a hundred seamen on the Revenge fired the three customary volleys; the Last Post was sounded and the "Land of Hope and Glory" played, as the officers and men left the quarter-deck. The ceremony terminated with the hoisting of the colors.

The fleet then resumed its cruising dispositions and proceeded up the Channel towards home.

Pershing Condemns Agitators Who Use America As Base

(Reuter's Service)

New York, March 19.—A huge gathering, headed by the American Legion, assembled at Madison Square Garden last evening as a protest against the meeting held there on March 1 by the so-called "Rhine Horror Committee" to protest against the employment of French colonial troops on the Rhine General Pershing addressed last evening's gathering.

There was a great demonstration when a procession of mothers, wearing gold stars in recognition of their sons lost in the war, marched in procession to the Amphitheatre. Crowds outside listened to impromptu patriotic addresses while the meeting inside unanimously passed a resolution condemning "mischievous propaganda" and resenting "disloyal attempts to breed dissension between America and the Allies." General Pershing said that Americans objected to citizens of foreign birth who attempted to decide American questions for foreign reasons, thus abusing their American citizenship.

London, March 19.—In addition to the burning of valuable stacks on surrey farms, already reported, nine stacks on a farm at Bexley, Kent, were destroyed by fire last night. This is believed to be the work of incendiaries.

Rockefeller Gives To Belgian School

(Reuter's Service)

New York, March 20.—The Rockefeller Foundation has contributed forty-three million francs towards the total of one hundred million francs required for new buildings and endowments by the medical school of the University of Brussels. The new funds will go to establish a training school for nurses in memory of Nurse Edith Cavell and Madame Dysage, wife of the wellknown Belgian surgeon, who was drowned at the sinking of the Lusitania.

Conference Accepts Communication Rule

(Reuter's Service)

Barcelona, March 20.—The International Communications Conference, now sitting here, has adopted Article Seven of the Draft Convention, dealing with restrictions on liberty of transit, and providing for the maintenance of the principle of freedom of transit without affecting measures of security which each State may need to take in emergencies.

Article Ten, which proposes to abrogate all previous international agreements incompatible with the proposed Convention, was referred to a sub-commission. Some countries favored the preservation of existing treaties alongside of the Convention. Others, headed by Japan, urged the complete abrogation of existing treaties.

Article Eight, which provides for the maintenance of the utmost freedom of transit in time of war compatible with the rights and duties of belligerents and neutrals, was also referred to a committee.

Harding Discusses Modified Covenant

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, March 20.—It is learned that President Harding has discussed with the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate plans for the modification of the League of Nations project.

President Harding expressed reluctance to impose a Presidential embargo on farm produce, and suggested various steps for protection against importation.

Mr. Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, after the meeting, said the old embargo was beset with difficulty, and he favored a tariff instead.

Mr. Hoover has conferred with the directors and chairman of the United States Chamber of Commerce in regard to plans for stimulating exports. An advisory committee will be appointed to co-operate with the Department of Commerce.

Manila Publisher Asks Territorial Form Of Government

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

San Francisco, March 19.—Mr. George Fairchild, the publisher of the Manila Times, in the course of a statement here, urged the establishment of a territorial form a government in the Philippines. He declared that an improved export market was necessary for the prosperity of the islands, but the increased sugar crop was the start of better conditions. He declined to comment on the statement that he was being considered for the Governor-Generalship.

Harding To Confer With Foreign Envoys

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, March 18.—President Harding has decided to continue the conferences between the States Department and foreign Envoys, including the Japanese Ambassador, Baron Shidehara. It is understood that the British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs will submit, through the British Ambassador at Washington, several international projects in the interest of the United States and Japan.

In The Courts

JUDGMENT IN J. I. EZRA CASE

Judgment for Taels 90,632 was awarded the Netherlands Trading Society yesterday by the British Supreme Court in a claim based on a promissory note brought against Mr. J. I. Ezra. Mr. Ezra filed a petition in bankruptcy on Saturday. He did not deny the claim and asked a stay of execution, through counsel. This was granted when judgment, with costs, was awarded.

Mr. H. Lipson Ward appeared for plaintiffs and Mr. Reader Harris for defendant.

Mr. Reader Harris said defendant did not deny the claim.

Seaman's Mission Has Annual Meeting

Successful Year's Work Reported On; Bishop Maloney Presides

The annual general meeting of the Shanghai Seaman's Church and Mission Society was held last evening at Church House, with the Rt. Rev. H. J. Maloney, English Bishop in Mid-China occupying the chair.

A very satisfactory year's work was reported by the chairman in moving the adoption of the report of the general committee. He stated that subscriptions had been received from firms and individuals amounting to Tls. 1,571 and that the Mission, since the last meeting, has been able to invest in Tls. 2,500 worth of Municipal Council debentures. He commented upon the fact that the Mission is still under-staffed, but stated that it was hoped that this might be corrected, so that the good work of the institution may be enlarged. The chairman remarked that while in England he had met Mr. Reginald Tayler, for many years organist at St. Andrew's, who is now studying theology at the London College of Divinity and will shortly be ordained.

In seconding the motion to adopt the report Dean Symons rendered high tribute to Mr. J. H. Inwood for the manner in which he has superintended the Hanbury Institute. It was due to his energy and efficiency, Dean Symons said, that the Institute had been able to care for the needs of the bluejackets and men of the mercantile service visiting the port during the year.

The Rev. C. E. Spencer, Port Chaplain, also spoke of the work done, particularly in the entertainment of seafaring men ashore, stating that recently families here had shown greater interest in the problem and had rendered considerable assistance. He spoke in defense of the sailor man ashore stating that it was a popular misconception that they came ashore to misbehave themselves, most of them coming into port with no such thought.

The report of the Chaplain for the year shows that 817 men of the British navy, soldiers, civilians and members of the mercantile service, of all nationalities, were cared for at the Hanbury Institute. Weekly dances or social evenings had been held, meeting with great appreciation.

TO BAR WINE IN NAVY

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Two Persons Shot In Armed Robbery

Old Woman And Boy Wounded By Raiding Band

Two persons were shot, one being seriously wounded, in an armed robbery which occurred in an alleyway off Yunnan Road, near Avenue Edward VII, Sunday evening.

The robbers, five in number, at least two of whom carried pistols, entered the dwelling at No. 575 Yunnan Road shortly before 6:30, gaining admission by an open door at the rear. While one man devoted his attention to the occupants of the ground floor and one guarded the front and another the rear door two went upstairs to a room occupied by two women and a child. One of them snatched off a pair of gold earrings worn by the younger woman and when the other occupant remonstrated she was shot through the left forearm, the bullet grazing her side. On account of her advanced age—she is 61—her condition is regarded as critical. The robbers fled when one of the residents escaped through a window and gave the alarm and as they ran along the alleyway one fired a shot which struck a boy of 16 in the shoulder.

The wounded were taken to Shantung Road, hospital. The value of the robbers' loot was about $200.

Seamen File Suit Against Company

A suit on behalf of 18 seamen, who allege that they were wrongfully discharged from employment on the steamer Esther Dollar, of the Robert Dollar Company, was filed yesterday in the United States Court for China by Mr. P. M. Linebarger. The plaintiff named is one W. Allway and an accompanying motion asks that 17 others, each alleging similar demands and reasons for action, be consolidated in the claim in order to avoid the hardship of forcing each to await hearing of their claims.

The petition alleges that on or about September 16, 1920 plaintiff entered into a contract with the defendant company by which it was agreed that in the event of discharge he would be transported without cost to himself to Cardiff, Wales and that he was to be paid at the rate of nineteen pounds during employment and return to Wales. The rates of payment differ as to the others. The petitioner asks second class transportation to Cardiff and payment of the contract wage until he reaches Wales, with costs of lodging board and maintenance until transportation is secured, or, in the alternative, a judgment of £350 for each plaintiff and costs.

Grain Deliveries During February 3,700 Tons Daily

Over 100,000 tons of grain or an average of 3,700 tons a day, were delivered into the famine district during the month of February, it is reported by Director J. E. Baker of the American Red Cross, China Famine Relief, in a message to officials of the associated relief organisations.

It is pointed out that these deliveries were made in spite of the interruptions caused by the Chinese New Year. The Peking-Mukden line, Mr. Baker states, delivered to Tientsin station, Fengtai, and to the Tientsin-Pukow line a total of 55,930 tons, or an average of 1,998 tons a day.

Following is a record of deliveries into the famine district:

	Tons
Tientsin-Pukow Line	53,701
Peking-Hankow Line	24,764
Peking-Mukden Line (Delivered to Tientsin in addition to deliveries to Peking-Hankow Line and Tientsin-Pukow Line)	25,398

Proof From Grave Leads Son To Admit Parricide!

charged her with having made three demands upon her father-in-law immediately prior to his death. These being, first, that her husband be allowed to administer the estate; second, that he should persuade her husband to break off the opium habit and, third, that her husband be induced not to take any concubines. The wife denied having made these demands.

Chang was then again brought, handcuffed, before the court and Procurator Tan told him that in a few moments, at the conclusion of the test, the bones of his father would be laid before him and would speak for themselves. Even if he refused to make any admission, the Court stated, his parent's bones, if they bore the traces consequent to foul play, would seal his fate.

ADMITS INTENTION

"But if you will tell us the truth," the Procurator added, "we will do what we can."

Chang paused a moment in meditation. Then, suddenly, he said:

"But my father died a natural death on the 27th day of the 12th moon of the 8th year. Before his death, however, I had entertained an intention of poisoning him, but this was never carried out. I recall that during the first part of the 11th moon of that year the complainant, Chu Chao-sung, gave me a parcel of red medicine."

But, the Court interjected, if the complainant had furnished the accused with the poison, how would he dare to bring this charge? Chang insisted that Chu had given him the "medicine."

"But," he added, "my father died a natural death and Chu, because he failed in an attempt to blackmail me, started this malicious prosecution."

Then came the examination of the bones. The ominous looking kettle was uncovered at 3:30 p.m. and its contents were removed, washed, polished and laid in an approximately natural position upon a table. Piece by piece the Procurators examined the individual bones. Bluish-black discolorations were noted on the left side of the skull, the right jaw bone, twenty-three of the teeth, the five phalanges of the right hand, five of the ribs, the thigh and foot bones. They were rubbed with files and the color endured. Whereupon the experts in consultation declared that it was a case of poisoning.

VERDICT RETURNED

The Procurators confirmed this verdict.

There was a sort of moaning gasp from the crowd.

The accused Chang, his wife and two sons, the doctor who is alleged to have furnished the poison, and the complainant—Chu Chao-sung—together with all the other relatives of the deceased, were brought before the Court. The bones were placed before them and the medical experts gave their interpretation of the experiment.

Chang seemed greatly agitated The bones were of an unusual color, he admitted. It was very extraordinary.

The Court went into session again.

"You have seen the bones of your father," said Procurator Tan. "It is convincing evidence that he was poisoned. If you are ready to tell the truth the Court will do what is in its power."

SUDDEN CONFESSION

"I did poison my father," came Chang's answer, "It was with some white medicine."

"When did the intention come to you?"

"It was in the third moon of the 8th year," replied Chang, speaking scarcely above a whisper. "Chu Chao-sung gambled with me, and it was he who suggested the thing. In the eighth moon he again made the suggestion and in the eleventh moon both Chu and Chu Chien-chen (the doctor, who is also in custody) broached it and gave me a parcel of white medicine in Chu Chao-sung's teashop. It was of about the size of a copper and at 8 o'clock of the morning of the 27th day of the 12th moon of the eighth year I placed one-half of the parcel in the congee which my father took for breakfast. My father died violently that night.

A written statement was then taken down and signed by Chang. Then, he and his wife were imprisoned, the younger son remaining with his mother while the older boy was given into the charge of the widow of the murdered rice merchant. The bones were placed in a box and sealed.

A full report of the proceedings was telegraphed to the Ministry of Justice in Peking last night.

EXTRADITION PROCEEDINGS

Chang Shen-sung, charged with poisoning his father thirteen months ago in Pootung, and arrested by the Municipal police Saturday, was ordered handed over to the City authorities for trial by Assessor Hutchison and Magistrate Li of the Mixed Court yesterday. Chang's wife was also ordered handed over and a son who was held as a witness.

The accused was arrested on a Mixed Court warrant at the instance of the City Magistrate. Mr. F. J. Schuhl appeared for Chang and opposed the application for handing over, alleging the charge to have been trumped up against his client by the complainant, one Chu Chao-sung, after the latter had made an ineffectual attempt at blackmail. Counsel submitted that the case should be heard in the Mixed Court and stated that he was prepared to go ahead with it.

The complainant, who was neither a relative of the dead man nor connected with the City police, had tried to extort $600 from the accused, Mr. Schuhl declared. Chang, he said, had lived in Pootung for six or seven months following his father's death and there had been no charge of wrongdoing made against him. Moreover, the widow of the deceased and another son were living, had made no charge and even now denied that there was any poisoning. The charge had only been brought since the accused moved into the Settlement.

Detective Sergeant Conduit stated that both the accused had been in hiding when the police went to serve the warrant and were afterward discovered on Broadway.

A Chinese detective from the City told the Court that Chang and his wife fled into the Settlement the day the complainant brought the charge. Regarding another name appearing on the Mixed Court warrant, that of one Fong Tuh-ling, the detective stated that he had been implicated as a party to the murder. Mr. Kentwell, appearing on behalf of this man, said that he had departed for Canton. The Court ruled that the warrant would hold good and in case of his arrest an application could be made.

Students Support Teachers' Strike

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, March 18.—An interesting feature of the strike of Peking's educators now in progress, is the support being furnished by the student body. At a mass meeting held on March 17, at the National University the students declared that even though the teachers might evince a willingness to return to duty upon the payment of salary arrears, they would continue the strike on their own account until the Government should establish a definite educational fund.

The students were emphatic in their opinion that the teachers and officers should not be satisfied with the mere payment of back salary, and concluded by adopting the following resolutions:

"1.—Resolved, that the students of the National University in co-operation with the Peking Students Union, should petition the Government, asking it to designate a revenue for a national education foundation fund.

2.—Resolved, that if the teachers return to their work before this foundation fund is established, even though their back salaries may have been paid, the students will continue the strike until the realisation of this end."

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Kobe, March 19.—Kobe is celebrating two anniversaries; one is the fiftieth anniversary of the opening of the port to foreign trade, and the other the thirtieth anniversary of the granting of municipal government. The former celebration should have been held in 1918 but was put off on account of the war.

Over 20,000 invitations have been issued to attend a mammoth open air meeting in the Okurayama Park tomorrow. Members of the Consular Corps will be present, and speeches will be delivered by the Mayor of Kobe, leading local business men and others. The town is gaily decked with flags, and tonight there is a special illumination display.

HORTICULTURE SOCIETY AIMS TO AID GARDENS

Flower Shows To Be Made More Educational In Future

A broadened policy for the coming year which will include the encouragement of small gardens and more emphasis on the educational phases of the semi-annual flower shows was adopted yesterday afternoon at a business meeting of the Shanghai Horticultural Society, held at the Cathedral School.

At the suggestion of the president, Mr. Skinner Turner, an amendment to the constitution was adopted whereby the general committee is reduced from twelve to four, the reason for the change being the cumbersomeness of the larger body. Formerly three officers or committee men constituted a quorum; under a new amendment adopted yesterday afternoon, the quorum was raised to four, one of whom must be a committee member, thereby preventing the concentration of control in the hands of the officers.

The organisation also voted to include as officers a list of honorary vice-presidents who would have no active duties, but who would always be available for advice and help.

According to the report of the treasurer, Mr. J. C. Bosustow, which was unanimously adopted, the society began the year with a balance on hand of $839, and a membership roll or 176. The list of members has since grown to 192, Mr. Bosustow attributing the increase to the society's new policy of interesting itself in small gardens. Mr. Bosustow also reported that the organisation is taking steps to affiliate with similar groups in Great Britain, such as the National Sweet Pea Society, the Rose Society, the Chrysanthemum Society, and other horticultural clubs, so that the medals and certificates issued by these organisations will be available for distribution in Shanghai.

Urged either by loyalty to their masters or by the hope that said masters would split the prize money with them, several Chinese gardeners have in the past secured flowers from other sources and entered them in the show as coming from their employers' gardens. In order to discourage this amiable custom, Mr. Skinner Turner suggested that no hopes of cumshaw in the shape of possible prize money be extended to the Chinese Luther Burbanks. One of the prize winners at the last Flower Show returned his award when he discovered that the flowers which won it had bloomed a long way from his garden.

One of the suggestions presented by the committee yesterday afternoon was the free admission of gardeners on the day after the formal closing of the show. The organisation hopes to hold its spring show in the Town Hall, instead of in a matshed on the Bund.

Before the close of the meeting the following officers were re-elected: president, Mr. Skinner Turner; secretary, Mr. L. C. Westcott, and treasurer, Mr. J. C. Bosustow. The new committee is to consist of the following: C. S. Speyer, G. C. Wingrove, Mrs. H. Y. Irwine, and Major Payne, D.S.O. On the list of vice-presidents are Mrs. F. Ascough, Percy Fowler, L. Grenard, P. Peebles, W. Y. Ding, R. C. Turner, J. Ambrose, Dr. E. L. Marsh, Mrs. C. W. Wrightson, and Mrs. W. V. Drummond.

"Stop Thief"

Stop Thief is not one of the Denniston Companies best efforts, as the Players, with very few exceptions seem more at ease in more serious plays. "Stop Thief" is probably one of the funnest farces ever written and is well worth seeing for the lines and situations alone, even though the acting is not up to the level of the Companies' usual efforts.

Mr. Ray D. Clifton was by long odds the star of the evening, giving a really perfect performance of the absent-minded loveable old self-confessed kleptomaniac.

Mr. Raynolds Denniston was excellent in the small part of the Sergeant of Police, and the rest of the cast worked hard to make the play a success. David Belbridge gave a clear cut little character sketch of the clergyman and scored heavily with his few lines.

Clayton Graham was very good as Joe Thompson—the real detective and Miss Valentine Sidney proved what a really fine comedy actress she is in the role of the deaf Mrs. Carr. Miss Florence Chapman made a pretty Joan and Mr. Reginald Wykeham was very funny as the English bridegroom.

B. Johnson, a Jamaica negro, was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment by the Mixed Court yesterday on charges of disorderly conduct and vagrancy. He has had four previous convictions and the Assessor in passing sentence stated that if the prisoner came before the Court again he would be expelled from the Settlement. Johnson was arrested on the Broadway Sunday where he was stopping motor cars and ricshas and holding up traffic generally.

BEFORE BABY CAN TALK

he must tell you things by signs. And so when you see his hands going often to his mouth, and find him cross and irritable and unable to get to sleep when he should, it means that he is having trouble with his teething.

In such circumstances all baby needs is Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian specific for children's ills. They act almost like magic, soothing the pain, cooling the fever and thus quickly inducing natural, calm and health-promoting sleep.

"My baby was sick and restless whilst cutting his teeth but Baby's Own Tablets quickly made him all right. I have never found anything so good as these Tablets for regulating the bowels of little children" writes Mrs. M. W. Stoddart, of East Brookfield, Vermont, U.S.A.

Baby's Own Tablets cure infantile constipation, indigestion, colic, diarrhoa, colds, croup and worms. Chemists sell them or direct and post free at 60 cents the vial from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

"From any angle—Satisfaction"

—Chesterfield

It takes both skill and precision to blend tobaccos the Chesterfields way. Perhaps this is why "they satisfy" as no other cigarettes do.

In the superior quality of the tobaccos they contain, Chesterfields set a standard only rivalled by the most expensive cigarettes.

Chesterfields are real cigarettes—made from genuine Turkish tobaccos, grown in Turkey, blended by a new and exclusive process with the very finest of mellow-aged American leaf.

Hidden taste and a fulness of flavor you have never found in any other cigarette—are brought out by this secret blend.

And also in their moisture-proof wrapping that keeps them firm and fresh always, Chesterfields "satisfy."

JAPAN ENTERS DAVIS CUP RACE WITH TWO STARS

Kumagae And Kashio, In United States, Are Expected To Compete

URGE PRELIM HERE

Nipponese Must Beat Filipinos Before Going To United States

Japan has challenged the United States, present holder of the Davis Cup and will send a tennis team to America in the late summer to compete with tennis champions from the leading tennis countries of the world, the winner of the preliminary matches to play the American team for possession of the trophy for the next year. This is the first time that Japan has ever entered the Davis Cup Tournament.

The challenge was sent to Mr. Merrick, secretary of the association, in New York by cable. This action was taken by members of the Tokio Lawn Tennis Club who entered Japanese champions in the name of Japan and not under the name of the club.

The above is from the Japan Advertiser. In the meantime the Far Eastern Olympics are attempting to stage the preliminary game between Japan and the Philippines in Shanghai next May, Japan drew the Philippines in the preliminaries and Dr. John H. Gray, secretary of the China Contest Committee, has written both to Japan and the Philippines suggesting that the match be held here while the Far Eastern Games are on. Japan will probably not consent as two of their best players are in the United States and the Philippines will therefore be figured on to forfeit.

Prior to the visit to Japan of Watson M. Washburn and Samuel Hardy, alternates and the latter captain of the American team which wrested the Davis Cup from the Australasian team to Tokio a month ago it was thought that Japan would be unable to enter the tournament. This difficulty was overcome when the two Americans explained that the members of the Tokio Lawn Tennis Club, which is the leading tennis organisation in Japan, could as individuals hold matches, sending the winners to America as champions of this country. At that time it was practically assured that Japan was entered but the necessary arrangements were not completed until the day the challenge was cabled to New York.

MAY REPRESENT JAPAN

While it is impossible at this time to say who will represent the Japanese Empire on the American tennis courts it is not hard to pick the three best Japanese tennis players. First there is Ichiya Kumagae, who incidently ranks fourth among all players in the United States. He is in America at present, as is also Kashio, a leading tennis player of this country, who undoubtedly will be one of the three.

If Japanese tennis enthusiasts have their way the other representative will be Shimizu, who, it is said, will run Mr. Kumagae a close race on the tennis court. He was the runner-up to Tilden at the Wimbledon tournament last year, and because of his absence it is feared that he will be unable to leave his business long enough this year to go to America.

However, in case he does, Japan is certain of having a team that will be a big factor in the tournament.

H.E. DAUNT HEADS KOBE GOLF CLUB

He Is Also Credited With Being One Of The Best Golf Players In The Orient

Mr. H. E. Daunt was unanimously elected president of the Kobe Golf Club for the coming year at its annual general meeting. Mr. Daunt, who has thus succeeded the late Mr. Alfred Wooley, is one of the oldest members of the club, having been a "regular" on Mount Rokko, where the club has its links, for many a season. He is considered one of the best golf players in the Orient besides being an enthusiastic supporter of all matters tending to promote that particular sport.

The following officers were also elected to serve during the year: Mr. J. P. Warren, captain; Mr. N. Hallett, secretary; Mr. A. R W. Landon, treasurer; Mr. S. Nago, Mr. T. D. Wright and A. E. Caro, committeemen. Mr. Warren resumed the duties as captain of the club after the department of Mr. G. A. Roper, who left Japan for America on a sick leave the last summer.

Mr. Warren at the opening of the meeting said that before proceeding with the business he desired to place on record the deepest emotion which all felt at the death of Mr. Woolley who had served as president of the club for a number of years. The members then rose and remained standing for a few minutes in silent acquiescence.

Mr. Sakaurai, new Mayor of Kobe, was elected as a honorary member, which was carried by acclamation.

Another interesting matter which was made known at the meeting was that the interport golf match this year would be played with the members of the Yokohama Golf Club and the Tokio Golf Club, some time the latter part of August. Last year the members both of the Yokohama and Tokio Golf Clubs went to Kobe for the annual interport games, and this year the members of the Kobe Golf Club will visit the two cities.

ANNUAL RAILWAY FOOTBALL MATCH ENDS IN DRAW, 1-1

S.N.R. And S.H.N.R. Teams Play 20 Minutes Over Regular Time

The annual football game between the members of the staff of the Shanghai Nanking Railway and those of the Shanghai-Hangchow-Ningpo Railway took place on Saturday before a large crowd of spectators on the Markham Recreation Ground of the railways. The match ended in a draw, the score being one to one.

The S.N.R. team was composed of: Carl Jen, Captain; Castle, Hon. Vice Captain; Lucas, Dzuntze, C. C. Yuen, T. C. Lloyd, W. P. Li, S. H. Ho, Kwang, Dowice and T. T. Yuen.

The S.H.N.R. team consisted of W. Manley, Captain; S. D. Huang, Vice Captain; G. M. Kay, J. Chen, S. W. Li, Yao, Yih, P. W. Nie, K. F. Wu, T. S. Tsang and M. V. Cheng.

Mr. A. H. Leslie of Jardine Matheson and Co., kindly officiated as referee.

The Chapai Police Band discoursed excellent music, and Mr. Chao Ching-hwa, the Managing Director of the two lines, who was accompanied by his wife and family, kicked off.

Play was very evenly balanced for the first 15 minutes, at the end of which period it became hot and exciting in the neighborhood of the S.H.N.L. goal, and resulted in the first goal being scored for the S.N.R. by Mr. Lucas from a corner kick. For the next 30 minutes the S.H.N.R. pressed strongly, but were unable to equalise.

After half time there was some interesting play, as the S.H.N.R. have already twice, in succession, won the silver challenge cup which the late managing director, Mr. Chung Mun-yew presented for competition, and were determined to win it outright on this occasion, and 15 minutes had only elapsed after play was resumed before they equalised from a free kick.

After this, play continued chiefly in the S.N.L. half of the ground, and the S.H.N.L. were unfortunate in not being able to add to their score before time was up.

As it was a drawn game it was decided to continue for a further twenty minutes, but the score was not increased.

Heads Up—Tails Down

This, without doubt, is one of the most remarkable photographs of a steeplechase spill ever made. During a race at the Kempton Race Course, England, Jockey Canter's mount, Impressioner, actually stood on its head after failing to clear a jump. Canter nimbly scampered away uninjured, as his mount's heavy body crashed over. Note the horse's tail straight up in the air.

How The New Rules Will Affect The Professional

BY ABE MITCHELL

Though the professional takes no part in the legislative side of golf I believe it is correct to say that his views are both sought and valued. He is, of course, allowed to manage his own affairs through the Professional Golfers' Association and I trust that I am revealing no secret in saying that he was taken into consultation in regard to the arrangements for this season's championship at Hoylake.

Representatives of the P. G. A. met members of the St. Andrews Committee after the match at Oxhey between Vardon and Ray and Duncan and Herd soon after the return of the first two named players from America and it was then decided to conduct the qualifying round and the championship proper in the grey old city which is the spiritual home of the game. As a matter of fact the control of the event was entirely handed over to the R. and A. and though I believe they were a little surprised at this, the P. G. A. considered that it was in the interests of all that it should be so.

I have been asked why the Professionals wanted the qualifying test to be held altogether and not, as last year, in professional and amateur sections. The reason was certainly not that they considered that the amateurs in being allotted eight places in the final stages, were being favored. But the point made and which the R. and A. have, I believe, accepted, was that all were entrants for the same event and were playing for the highest prize that the game has to offer and that no distinction should be made.

ANOTHER ANOMALY

But even if we do not take any direct part in the legislative side of the game, whatever decisions are come to usually affect us just as much as anyone else. The new rules which are to come into force on May 1 in some instances I have heard of clubs who have already adopted them, though this is, of course, wrong—must be tested before it can be told whether the changes are wise or otherwise. But it strikes me as unfortunate that we cannot have one penalty in general operation for the shot out of bounds. Either it should be stroke and distance, or distance only. Not only is the difference confusing to those of us who play on many courses, but it introduces a suggestion of unfairness. For instance take the courses on which

BASEBALL CLUB MEETS TOMORROW TO PLAN DRIVE

Will Also Consider Coming Of Teams From Osaka And Dairen

The Shanghai Amateur Baseball Club Committee will hold a meeting at the American Club tomorrow afternoon to consider the coming here of Japanese baseball teams from Osaka and Dairen and to complete plans for the membership drive.

The nine from Osaka is made up of members of the Osaka Mainichi Shimbun editorial staff who are coming here in May to cover the Far Eastern Games. The Shimbun is one of the two largest newspapers in Osaka.

It is expected that the Baseball Club will start its membership drive this week.

HARVARD NINE TO BE INVITED BY JAPANESE

Waseda University May Secure Team This Fall After Returning From Abroad

TEAM SAILS SATURDAY

Twelve Waseda Players To Make Tour—Doctor Abe And Coach Tobita In Charge

The tour of the Waseda University baseball team in America this spring and summer where they will play at least 18 of the leading university and college teams will re-open athletic relations between the higher educational institutions of the two countries and pave the way for an annual tour of the Orient by collegiate baseball teams from America.

Harvard University will be invited by the Waseda University to send its baseball team to the Far East for a series of games with the higher schools in Japan next summer. It is possible that two teams a year will come to Japan, and some school may be induced to send its team here for games in the late summer and early fall of this year. Negotiations for these games will be completed by Doctor Abe while he is in America with the Waseda nine.

The plan is said to be favored by the leading Eastern schools, but it was thought impossible to finance the trips until a few years ago when Waseda University managed the trip of the Chinese University team. It was found then that a team of 15 men could be brought from America, and sufficient money made on the games to pay expenses. Then the war interrupted plans.

The trip of the Waseda team to the United States to repay the visit to the Chicago University, with whom they will play three games, will renew the relations of the two countries. The Waseda team will sail from Yokohama next Saturday on the steamer Korea Maru for America, arriving there April 30 after playing a series in Honolulu. They will return July 29, and it is hoped that one of the teams they are to play in America will play a return series in Japan after that date.

Twelve players are to make the trip in charge of Dr. I. Abe, the manager, and Mr. C. Tobita, the coach. The players who will make the trip are: S. Takamatsu, captain and first base; F. Arita, S. Matsumoto and G. Taniguchi, pitchers; J. Nagano and J. Kuji, catchers; T. Tominaga, second base; J. Ishii, third base; T. Kubota, short stop; T. Kato, left field; K. Tanaka, center field, and T. Oshita, right field.

Local Cotton Mills Amalgamate

Three cotton mills in Shanghai, the Ewo, Kung Yik and the Yangtszepoo, held extraordinary general meetings yesterday in connection with their proposed amalgamation. The resolutions for the various actions were carried at all three meetings were carried. All the meetings were held at the office of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co., Ltd.

The first meeting was held by the Ewo Cotton Spinning and Weaving Co., Ltd.

Mr. A. Brooke Smith presided and was supported by Messrs. E. E. Clarke, C. G. Mackie, Zee Kwan-young, C. W. Beswick, secretary, F. N. Matthews, auditor and E. L. Hartopp, legal adviser.

Other shareholders present were: Messrs. John Prentice, G. Dunlop, J. Spunt, B. A. Clarke, D. Campbell, Ellis Hayim, J. Harrop, A. J. Welch, F. J. Burrett, W. W. Cox, Dr. R. S. Ivy, G. H. Potts, and Woo Ling-shu.

The secretary having read the notice convening the meeting, the chairman said:

"I hope the circular giving full details of the proposed scheme of amalgamation of this company with the Kung Yik and Yangtszepoo Companies, issued to shareholders on the 1st of this month was sufficiently clear to enable the proposals to be completely understood.

"The general managers and your consulting committee feel sure that the obvious advantages to the three concerns of this amalgamation must appeal to all shareholders, and I trust it will have your unanimous support.

"The cotton industry in China during the past few years has enjoyed such exceptional prosperity that many new mills have been projected, and we must be prepared for very serious competition in the near future, to meet which we cannot, to my mind, adopt a sounder course than consolidate our interests with those of the Kung Yik and Yangtszepoo Mills.

"You are, of course, aware that, in addition to building up strong financial positions for the companies managed by my firm, a progressive policy has been followed and weaving and other processes incidental to cotton manufacturing embarked upon. Instead of the three concerns being in friendly rivalry amalgamation will mean concentration upon certain specialities at each mill, thus securing better quality and greater production at more economical cost of working, which I can assure you will be of paramount importance when margins of profit are very bare.

"The advantages from the point of view of purchasing and selling, and also of staff arrangements, etc., are so apparent as not to need enlarging upon.

"Great care has been taken in the merging of interests not to permit the shareholders in any one of the three companies to gain at the expense of the others, and I have no hesitation in stating that the proposition now before you cannot hurt the earning capacity of the money invested in the new company.

"On the other hand, the new company commences with a moderate capital compared with its resources—it will also enjoy the enormous benefit of having donated to it all the reserves of the three old companies, as well as their profits from January 1 last to the date of the incorporation of the new company.

"The amalgamation will meet the wishes of a large number of shareholders, who recently petitioned that the shares of your company should be split up into shares of less value than Tls. 50.

"Preference shareholders will doubtless appreciate the treatment that is to be accorded to them, especially as the security of their investment will be greatly enhanced by the amalgamation.

"The draft of the proposed agreement of sale of this company to the new company, and the draft of the memorandum and articles of association of the new company are on the table and open to the inspection of shareholders.

"My firm will hold the general managership of the new company by agreement (a draft of which is on the table for inspection of shareholders) on similar terms to the existing Yangtszepoo Mill agreement. Their commission will however, be 10 percent on the net profit after deduction of depreciation not exceeding 7½ percent of the book values of buildings and machinery in place of 10 percent on the net profit in the case of the old companies. This means a reduction in the general managers' commission, but it is proposed to make that good by increasing the office allowance to Tls. 72,000 per annum, payable monthly, which is approximately the present outlay in providing the necessary office and management staff for the three mills. The office allowance is to be the subject of reconsideration at the end of three years at the option of the general managers.

"We propose that the consulting committee of the new company shall consist of not more than 9 members—5 to form a quorum—the remuneration to be Tls. 10,000 per annum, of which Tls. 2,000 will be paid to the Chairman, and the remaining Tls. 8,000 divided in proportion to attendances at meetings. The first consulting committee will consist of Messrs. A. Brooke Smith, E. E. Clark, C. G. Mackie, F. Ayscough, R. M. Dalgliesh, Pan Ching-poo, Zee Quan-yuan, Chai Lai-fong and Wu Ling-shu.

"Before concluding my remarks, I desire to place on record my sincere appreciation of the valuable services rendered by Mr. Matthews to the general managers and consulting committee during their deliberations as to the method of amalgamation of the three companies.

"The resolutions which I shall shortly have the pleasure of proposing will not become operative, if passed, until confirmed by you and similar resolutions are passed and confirmed by the shareholders of the Kung Yik and Yangtszepoo companies.

"If shareholders desire explanations with regard to any points in the circular and resolutions I shall be pleased to enlighten them with the assistance of Messrs. Hartopp and Matthews.

No questions were asked and the resolutions unanimously carried were as follows:

"Conditionally upon the passing and confirming of similar extraordinary resolutions by the shareholders of the Kung Yik Cotton Spinning and Weaving Company, Limited, and the Yangtszepoo Cotton Mill, Limited.

"1.—That it is expedient to effect an amalgamation of this company with the Yangtszepoo Cotton Mill, Limited, and with the Kung Yik Cotton Spinning and Weaving Company, Limited, and that with a view thereto this company be wound up voluntarily and that Frederick Newman Matthews, Fellow of the Institute of chartered accountants and Eric Munro Ross, chartered accountant, both of 3d, Peking Road, Shanghai, be and they are hereby appointed joint and several liquidators for the purpose of such winding up and that each of them, the said Frederick Newman Matthews and Eric Munro Ross, acting singly and without the other of them be and he is hereby authorised to exercise every power given to a liquidator in a voluntary winding up.

"Proposed by the chairman and seconded by Mr. C. G. Mackie.

"2.—That the said liquidators be and they are hereby authorised to consent to the registration of a new company to be named "Ewo Cotton Mills, Limited," with a memorandum and articles of association which have been already prepared with the privity and approval of the consulting committee of this company.

"Proposed by the chairman and seconded by Mr. C. G. Mackie.

"3.—That the draft agreement submitted to this meeting and expressed to be made between this company and its liquidators of the one part and Ewo Cotton Mills, Limited, of the other part, be and the same is hereby approved, and that the said liquidators be and they are hereby authorised pursuant to section 185 of the companies ordinance 1911 of Hongkong to enter into an agreement with such new company (when incorporated) in the terms of the said draft and to carry the same into effect with such (if any) modifications as they think expedient.

"Proposed by the chairman and seconded by Mr. Prentice.

"The chairman then said: If these resolutions are confirmed at the extraordinary general meeting to be held on April 5, the liquidator is prepared to facilitate matters for shareholders by re-opening the transfer books of the old company for 3 days—from the 6th to the 8th April inclusive.

KUNG YIK MEETING

At the Kung Yik meeting, Mr. Brooke-Smith presided and was supported by Messrs. C. G. Mackie, F. Ayscough, Chai Lai-fong, and Pan Ching-poo, with Mr. Beswick secretary, Mr. Matthews' auditor and Mr. Hartopp Legal Adviser.

The chairman addressed the meeting in a speech substantially the same as at the Ewo meeting.

The resolutions, similar to those given above, were then carried.

Other shareholders present were: Messrs. Zee Kwan-yuan, Woo Ling-shu, F. J. Burrett, G. H. Potts, H. J. Clark, E. Hayim and F. S. Gibbings.

YANGTSZEPOO MEETING

At the Yangtszepoo meeting—the last of the three—the speech already given was recapitulated and the resolutions carried.

The directors present were: Messrs. A. Brocke-Smith (chairman), C. G. Mackie, R. M. Dalgliesh, Woo Ling-shu and Pan Ching-poo, with Mr. Beswick, secretary, Mr. Matthews, auditor, and Mr. Hartopp, legal adviser.

Other shareholders in attendance were Messrs. Pan Tse-chuen Zee Kwan-yuan, E. B. Broadrick, A. W. Burkill, G. H. Potts, E. O. Cumming and Dr. R. S. Ivy.

Fanny Ward Loses Her Bag Of Jewels

But Paris Taxi Driver Restores Them And Gets 10,000 Francs Reward

Paris, Feb. 7.—Fanny Ward, the well-known motion-picture actress, had just taken her place in a sleeping car on the London mail train with her husband, Jack Dean, last night when she discovered that she had left a jewel case whose contents she valued at 2,500,000 francs, in the taxicab that had brought the pair from Claridge's Hotel to the station.

The idea of a journey was at once abandoned in favor of a rush to the Prefecture of Police, where Miss Ward was forced to admit that all she and Mr. Dean remembered about the taxicab was that it had a left-hand drive, which is rather rare in Paris. The color, number, type of motor—all were forgotten.

Nevertheless Police Inspector Curnier set out at 10 in an automobile borrowed from Claridge's—where he had made his first fruitless investigation—on a round of the Paris taxicab garages. A little before midnight he accosted a group of sleepy chauffeurs at a big garage near the municipal slaughter house in the La Villette quarter.

'Have you any taxis with left-hand drive here?" he asked for the hundredth time.

"Why, yes," was the reply. "Here's Duthell, who drives a left-hand machine."

Then came the inspector's second question, which he had asked only about ten times that night. Again the answer was affirmative.

"Yes," said Duthell, "I found a small valise in my cab after driving a couple to the Gare du Nord two hours ago. I've got it here. I was going to take around to the lost property office in the morning," and he produced the valise still locked. Exactly two hours and ten minutes after she had discovered her loss Miss Ward was again in possession of her jewel case, with the contents intact.

The chauffeur, whose name was appropriately Felix, received 10,000 francs for his honesty, and inspector Curnier also was not forgotten.

Police Raid Extensive Gaming Houses

Ten prisoners, $40 in silver and 52 gowns which had been abandoned by fleeing patrons constituted the haul made in a gambling raid which was conducted by Detective Sergeant J. J. Kilkenny at 237 Manila Road Saturday night. An artfully concealed bell, which the police could hear but were unable to discover, warned the gamblers of the raid.

D. S. Kilkenny stated in the Mixed Court yesterday that he had never in his experience seen a gambling establishment so extensively fitted out and he estimated that at least 50 men had effected their escape when the warning bell sounded.

The owner of the place was fined $300, with the alternative of three months' imprisonment and the gamblers seized were fined $10 each. The gambling paraphernalia was ordered confiscated.

SANG OPERA TO MOTHER'S SPIRIT

Miss Chase Ascribes Her Success To The Sacrifices Of Her Dead Parent

THEY STUDIED TOGETHER

Overwhelmed By Reception At Her Debut In The Metropolitan

New York, Feb. 8.—A debut at the Metropolitan after one short year in opera is a very rare accomplishment, but it is even more rare for an unknown singer to move her audience with the first few notes at her initial appearance. This Cora Chase did on Friday night, when she was heard for the first time in "Rigoletto," for before she had finished the short duet at her entrance it was manifest that she had won her audience in a way unusual before the critical American musical public.

But Miss Chase does not claim any credit for her success. Instead, she insists that the outcome might have been very different had she not been sure that the spirit of her mother was hovering over her. It was she who had made the sacrifices, Miss Case said, and, in spite of the fact that she was taken from her at the moment when she was about to experience the greatest success of her life, the singer believed that in the spirit her mother knew far better her emotions, and this thought cheered and comforted her and carried her triumphantly through the ordeal.

Miss Chase, in her suite at the Prince, George, told yesterday of the years she and her mother had worked together, looking forward to the moment when she should appear before her own countrymen. It was her mother, she said, who experienced the greatest joy when it was definitely settled that she would appear at the Metropolitan Opera House—she who sheltered the new artist during the preceding months; who encouraged her daily as she rehearsed or studied her roles in their apartment in Milan, and finally, when the journey to America to make her debut was planned, her mother guarded her unceasingly lest she might contract a cold or fatigue herself to the slightest degree.

They arrived December 17 and, after an absence of seven years, there was indeed a happy reunion with the three sisters of the singer. But only a few days passed when Mrs. Chase was stricken with an old ailment and on December 28 she died from the effects of an operation. Cora Chase was overcome with grief. She had never sung a note without her mother near to encourage her. In the eleven years they had spent abroad Mrs. Chase had heard all the lessons, attended all the rehearsals and really lived through her daughter. Miss Chase felt that she could not endure the ordeal alone. But as the days wore on and the time approached for her appearance, she said she began to feel her mother's influence and presently began to sing with the old enthusiasm.

"With the influence of my mother enveloping me, I could not help but succeed," said Miss Chase. "I thought of her only, and when I stepped upon the stage I was transfixed, singing the opera she loved so much. It must have been this that caught the audience so quickly and made them understand my singing. They were wonderful, and when I realized that they were applauding me so wildly and that I had really made a success I was overwhelmed, for I did not think I was singing nearly as well in the role as I often have."

Miss Chase made her first debut in "Rigoletto" in Busseto, Italy, the birthplace of Verdi, during the anniversary celebration for the composer in September, 1919. Never before had she sung with an orchestra, but her success was instantaneous, and in the same month, after her fifth appearance, Gatti-Casazza, manager of the Metropolitan, who was then in Italy, came to hear her. The following morning the contracts were signed. Because of engagements in Europe Miss Chase could not come last season, so it was arranged that she should make her debut here the first of this year, in the same opera that had fixed her in the hearts of the people of Europe.

U.S. MUST HAVE $17,000,000,000 IN THIRTY MONTHS

Secretary Weeks Urges Repeal Of Excise Profits Tax

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Pittsburg, March 21.—Mr. J. W. Weeks, Secretary of War, in an address to the Chamber of Commerce, declared that the Government must provide $17,000,000,000 within the next 30 months for running expenses and refunding operations. This task was greater than any other country had undertaken, and he was therefore opposed to avoidable new commitments. He urged the repeal of the excess profits tax as ineffective. He considered the country had reached a point where it must make a radical change in its tariff, and in his opinion the country's imports should produce a revenue of between $500 and $600 millions annually.

Washington, March 21.—The Government expenditure for the eight months ended March 1 was approximately $1,250,000,000 below that for the corresponding period in the fiscal year 1920, according to a Treasury statement, which gives the total as $3,247,000,000. If the present rate of decrease, due to the discontinuance of Federal activities on account of the war, is maintained, the total out-go in the present fiscal year will hardly exceed $4,000,000,000 as compared with $6,403,000,000 in the last fiscal year.

Give $348,000,000,000 As Total Cost Of War

Prof. Strong, In Hopkins Lecture, Estimates Potential Loss Of Life At 43,000,000

Baltimore, Feb. 7.—Total costs of the World War were declared to be more than $348,000,000,000 by Dr. Richard P. Strong, Professor of Tropical Medicine at the Harvard Medical School, in a lecture this afternoon at Johns Hopkins University.

This total, Dr. Strong said, included estimates of the direct costs of the war, amounting to $186,000,000,000, the indirect costs aggregating $84,000,000,000 and the cost of lives lost estimated at $78,000,000,000.

The potential loss of life due to the war was placed at 43,000,000 by Dr. Strong. The great majority of those who died, he said, were males between the ages of 22 and 44, and as a result of this the women of France in this age group far outnumber the men. It will take France seventy years to recover the loss in population which that country suffered, Dr. Strong declared.

Paris Issues Loan For Improvements

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, March 20.—The city of Paris is issuing a new loan of 1,800,000,000 francs for extensive improvements to the transport system, roadways etcetera. The loan will probably bear interest at five and three-quarters percent free of taxation, and be repayable within sixty years by means of quarterly drawings. There will be 140 prizes each year, including one prize of one million francs.

Would Have Tariff Follow Exchange

(Reuter's Service)

Pittsburg, March 20.—The Secretary of War, Mr. Weeks, has suggested to the Chamber of Commerce here that, for the protection of American industries, the Secretary of the Treasury should be authorised to change the tariff rates whenever exchange rates moved sharply from normal.

TO RESTRICT SERVICE

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, March 18 delayed.—The French Army Council has approved the restriction of military service for all recruits after the 1922 class to eighteen months.

U. S. MAIL TOMORROW

The next mail due from the United States will arrive tomorrow on the freighter, West Nivaria, according to the announcement of Postmaster E. H. Everett. The next mail to be despatched will leave for America on Friday on the Empress of Japan.

Removal Of U.S. Fleet To Pacific Would Aid Britain

Washington, March 20.—It is reliably reported that Great Britain will be relieved of naval embarassment on account of American building should the existing American fleet be removed from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It is understood that Great Britain will not protest against the increase in the American Navy, while Canada and Australia would be gratified should the fleet be transferred to the Pacific.

British Imports Of Wheat Normal

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, March 20.—Great Britain is again on her pre-war basis as regards her importations of wheat, whereas it is reported that Holland and Belgium are taking only half their pre-war requirements.

FOOTBALL IN LONDON

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 19.—In a Rugby football match between England and Scotland at Edinburgh today England won by 18 points to nil.

London, March 19.—In the Inter-university athletic sports held at Queen's Club today, Oxford and Cambridge tied winning five events each.

BILLIARDS IN LONDON

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 20.—The final heat in the competition for the billiards championship was decided last night between Newman and Reece, and resulted in a win for Newman, the scores being: Newman 16,000; Reece, 10,744. In man, the holder of the title, did not compete.

FLYING PARSON WINS HUNTER MILE IN BOSTON

H. C. Cutbill Nears Record By Completing Race In 4 Minutes And 22 3-5 Seconds

The "flying parson" of the running track, Harold C. Cutbill, carried away the feature event of the annual indoor meet held by his club, the Boston Athletic Association, at Boston last month when he won the Hunter mile, contrary to expectation, leaving a fast field behind and breaking the tape in 4 minutes and 22 3-5 seconds. This time was two fifths of a second short of the record.

Loren Murchison, America's premier dash man and a hero of the last Olympic meet continued his winning strip by copping the 50-yard sprint in 5 3-5 seconds. His field included Scholz, winner of the event last year, Woodring and Lever. Lever also defeated Scholz, placing second.

Earl Thomson, Canada's hurdler who last spring shattered the 120-yard high hurdle world's record held by Bob Simpson, easily won the 50-yard high hurdles. His time was 6 3-5 seconds. Gordon T. Nightingale of New Hampshire won the Williams cup by completing the 3-mile race in the lead, doing the distance in 14 minutes and 56 4-5 seconds.

Yale and Harvard tied in the pole vault at 12 feet, but Gardner of Yale won the toss from Harwood, Harvard's contestant. Yale also won the annual long distance relay from Harvard. The distance, 3,704 yards, was completed in 8 minutes and 37 2-5 seconds.

Changes In Golf

the championships are to be decided this season. At St. Andrews the penalty is stroke and distance and at Hoylake distance only. But I fail to see why the Stroke into the stationmaster's garden on the Scottish links should be more harshly punished than one into the orchard at Hoylake.

LOST BALL RULE

With regard to the change in the lost ball rule, I understand that this was altered to satisfy America who argued that the stroke which resulted in the disappearance of the ball was often not as bad as the shot which ended 'out of bounds'. So they said the penalty should be the same in each instance and their way of stating the case seems logical. A ball out of bounds in very many cases would be lost beyond recovery. For example if you are too strong with your approach to the sixth hole at Deal, the ball will probably finish in the sea. That is unquestionably lost. You do not know where it is any more than the ball which hides itself in the rough a few yards off the fairway.

Again I have seen many balls struck out of bounds—I have hit many of them myself, I regret to say—and the country into which they travelled was so bad that if you were prepared to search for a week, you would not expect to find them. So that by this method of reasoning it is fair to say that the stroke which causes the loss of a ball does not deserve to be punished more severely than one which results in the ball being hit beyond the boundaries of the course.

So far as the professional is concerned this change of rule is not very important, for the man who loses a ball and still hopes to snatch a half when penalised stroke and distance must be a real optimist. Indeed, not once in a hundred times I imagine will it be worth while to go back and drop a second ball unless, of course, you know that your opponent is already in trouble. Then you may take the trouble to walk back a hundred yards or more instead of proceeding to the next tee, as one is compelled to do under the old and present lost ball rule, but only if there is any likelihood of your opponent dropping two more strokes in recovering. This may happen in the case of the amateur, but scarcely in that of the professional and I should say that the authorities do not contemplate that anyone except in rare cases will play a second ball. If it were to become a general practice to do so it would inevitably mean still more congestion on the crowded links. It is bad enough when a player goes back to drop a ball in the case of out of bounds and it will be so much worse if he does the same when a ball is lost.

NEW BALL DILEMMA

Then, of course, there is the new ball. I do not think that there is the slightest doubt the authorities have been completely deceived in fixing the maximum weight and minimum size and that they are already aware that the makers are putting on the market the best ball that has yet been manufactured. To some extent I believe this is due to the fact that they are winding the core tighter than ever. Not only am I satisfied that the new ball flies further than the '31' but I believe that it simplifies certain shots. It certainly comes up quicker and that is a most important advantage. I have heard many rumors as to what action the R. and A. committee intend to take in the matter, but I do not anticipate, whatever they may decide, that any change will be made this season. The manufacturers, I imagine, will be studied to this extent. I shall be more surprised, however, if the R. and A. finally carry out the plan which they arrived at last season and which was only scrapped to please the Americans. If this is done it will mean the fixing of a real standard and the standard will be a ball that will float. Golf will be a very different game with a ball weighing about 26 ounces.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SIMPSON, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
J. S. ALEXANDER, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and efficient laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."
CHAS. EDWARD GARDINER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desired result."
F. GERALD BLATTNER, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I have prescribed Castoria to families for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILSON, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."
J. A. BOARMAN, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

British Design—British Manufacture
This clock is not a passing novelty, but a definite advance in clock making.
14 POINTS AND 4 TO SPARE.
Special Advantages of the Silent Keyless Clock.

1. Extreme simplicity. 2. Reliability. 3. It is practically noiseless. 4. It automatically adjusts itself to irregularities of shelf or mantelpiece. 5. It beats true seconds. 6. It combines the efficiency of a "Grandfather" pendulum with a 4" case. 7. Variations due to atmospheric changes are reduced to a minimum because the centre of gravity is within an eighth of an inch of the centre of motion. 8. The pivots of the compound pendulum, rolling in their curved recess, cause the pendulum to describe a cycloidal arc. 9. It cannot get out of beat. 10. There are no keys to lose. 11. There are no springs to break. 12. The design of the escapement reduces friction to the minimum. 13. The clock itself is its own driving power. 14. It shows at a glance when it needs winding. 15. The driving force is constant. 16. The design lends itself to new varieties of artistic treatment. 17. It requires no oil. 18. An extraordinary reduction of strain on working parts, giving long life.

Cancellation of Guarantees

My late father, Mr. Pai Pao (傑柏), died on March 3, 1921. All guarantees, undertaken by him when alive on behalf of relatives and friends for business purposes, such as paper, letter and verbal guarantees, are hereby entirely nullified, on account of my immaturity and having no strength to undertake such matters.

I particularly declare this by inserting this advertisement, and wish to be excused.

Catalogued for Sale: 2,044,771 lbs. (about 913 tons).
Sold: 1,305,714 lbs. (about 583 tons).

Following the decline in the London market another set-back in all prices was experienced at our auctions this week. There was, however, a fair demand at the lower level.

Standard Ribbed Smoked Sheet sold up to 31½ cents, showing a decline of 2½ cents on the week. The average price may be given as 30½ cents.

Off Quality Sheet sold to an interested market at prices 4 cents below last auctions.

Only three lots of First Latex Crepe changed hands, two fetching 37 cents and one 36½ cents, which is 1½ cents down.

Off Color Latex dropped 3 cents.

Brown, Dark and Barky Crepes met with good competition, having declined on an average about 2 cents.

There was practically no change at the continuation this morning.

The above prices for Standard Quality Sheet and Crepe are only paid for small lots at the auctions, whereas bigger quantities in the outside market generally fetch from 1 cent to 1½ above these figures.

Rebels Release Spanish Captain But Hold His Son

Melilla, Morocco, Feb. 6.—Jose Sallud, captain of the Spanish vessel San Jose, returned to this port with his ship today after having been held in captivity by the Moors since Jan. 20, when Moorish rebels seized and sacked his vessel off the coast of Penon de Velez, southeast of Ceuta. Captain Sallud was released upon condition that he send his former captors a ransom of 4,000 pesetas and a supply of modern rifles, on penalty of having his son, Francisco, 13 years old, being sold into slavery by the Moors, together with a sailor, Guillermo Munoz, who was captured at the same time.

The master of the San Jose declared the Moors treated their captives comparatively well, because among the Moorish party was a native with whom the captain formerly had traded. This man intervened with his superiors, pleading for the prisoners, whom the Moors at first intended to send directly to the slave market in the interior of the country. The entire cargo of the San Jose was carried off by the tribesmen.

The Influence Of Christian Institutions In The Regeneration Of China

(Contributed by V. P. Ting, Member of Class 1915, Department of Arts, St. John's University.)

EVER since the open door policy which ushered in western civilisation and education through the media of Christian institutions, China has received boundless benefits, so far as the question of national regeneration is concerned.

In her so-called palmy days of yore, China was, as a matter of fact, an isolated country. She was proud, conceited and self-satisfied. Beyond the pale of literary culture, she never thought of the importance of scientific or technical education. Nor did she show any sympathy towards liberal education.

Education was then only received by a blessed few amongst the aristocratic classes, who, having devoured such books as the Thirteen Creeds, the Analects of Confucius and Mencius, coupled with some master-pieces of famous literati like Tao Yuan-ming, Liu Tsung-yuan, the Three Soos and a host of other literary notables, which constituted the sum-total materials of their beautiful "eight-legged-essays," had constantly aspired to governmental posts. The majority of them strained every nerve and energy towards winning the "bowl of a mandarin," not with a spirit of sacrificial service to their fellowmen, but rather with the rapacious motive of hoarding riches and loading honors upon themselves. Practically speaking, the spirit of patriotism was working in only a few honest scholars. Such was the educational condition of the China of the so-called palmy days.

The result was, of course, that the government was held in the hands of a gang of selfish demagogues, who made the emperor a mere figure-head and who fattened their own pockets with blood-money through various chicaneries and itching-palm policies; that the government was transformed into a sort of auction-room wherein the most important posts were bartered for the "Almighty Dollar"; that the rich had become richer and richer and the poor, poorer and poorer; that the fountain of knowledge was opened to a few aristocratic classes who treated their more unfortunate fellowmen as subservient slaves; and that the principles of righteousness and justice were utterly disregarded.

With the overthrow of the Manchu Dynasty on the one hand and the birth of the Republic of China on the other, this country is, so to speak, roused from her long sleep. She knows that as a nation, she needs to have her citizens educated, irrespective of social standards and sexes. She realises that the son of a millionaire or high official should stand shoulder to shoulder with that of a carpenter or coolie in a school for a proper education. In other words, the spirit of liberty, equality and fraternity which constitutes the essence of true democracy now ferments in this vast country.

The above is, however, only a general account as to the influence effected by Christian institutions in the regeneration of China. Let us now proceed more minutely into some of the conspicuous achievements of the many leading Christian institutions in China as a whole.

Firstly, Christian institutions create a powerful impetus towards the upliftment of the weaker sex of this nation. This is evidenced by the erection of many girls' schools and colleges in Shanghai and elsewhere for the education of China's future mothers. Formerly the girls were considered as mere toys in the hands of the men. Hence, concubinage and polygamy were common in almost all parts of China. Inasmuch as the Christian institutions have enthusiastically propagated the doctrine that God created men and women upon an equal basis, that the girls should receive equal respect and treatment with the boys and that prostitution and concubinage and polygamy are diametrically opposed to Christian principles, all of these evils are being gradually eradicated.

Secondly, Christian institutions have been the channels through which the knowledge of western sciences is diffused. The laudable works of the Roman Catholic and Protestant missionaries have paved the way for scientific inventions and discoveries. The observatories in the Siccawei Church, the Hangchow College and other schools of modern sciences inspire the spirit of astronomical research. The various scientific courses that are being prescribed in the Christian colleges and universities are stepping-stones to the young of China towards the appreciation of modern sciences.

Thirdly, the doctrine of the Triune Divinity convinces the young citizens of China that God exercises justice and mercy towards all men and stimulates them to lead godly, and patriotic lives. The proverb that "Obedience to the Laws of God is Liberty" is understood and accepted by every true Christian student nowadays.

Fourthly, the story of the "Life of Christ" makes for the development of the Christian manhood and womanhood of Now China. Dr. Sun Yat-sen, Father of the Chinese Revolution of 1911, who led an itinerant fugitive's life prior to his success in the construction of the Republic of China, was one of the first fruits of Christian institutions in China. Likewise Drs. W. W. Yen, Alfred Z. K. Sze, Wellington V. K. Koo, Hawkling N. L. Yen, Chengting T. Wong and other prominent returned students from Europe or America are the products of St. John's and other leading Christian universities in China.

Fifthly, Christian institutions in maintaining theological seminaries, afford easy means for earnest Chinese Christian young men to prepare themselves for the holy works of the ministry, the sowing of the blessed seed of the church for the salvation of their fellowmen and the enlightenment of the Republic of China as a whole.

Sixthly, the founding of the medical colleges such as the Union Medical College at Peking under the Rockefeller Foundation and similar colleges, undertake the essential interprise of training young Chinese students to be good and kind doctors for the alleviation of the bodily discomforts of their fellowmen.

Seventhly, the opening of the Soochow University Law School in this vicinity makes possible the training of Christian lawyers for the introduction of western laws and the revision of the penal codes of China, thereby aiding the Chinese people to become law-abiding citizens in the true sense of the word.

Eighthly, the erection of such benevolent institutions as that for the China Blind, the Shanghai Industrial Orphanage and asylums of various categories for old and destitute persons inculcates the spirit of Christian philanthropy.

Finally, the various kinds of athletic sports and calisthenics which have been started by the Christian institutions and which have now been adopted and appreciated by non-Christian schools, help to cultivate the physical activities of the young people of China.

Judging from the above-mentioned points, the writer is led earnestly to hope that many more Christian institutions will be founded for the education of China's teeming millions; that the works of the present existing Christian institutions will go forward by leaps and bounds; that the Light and Truth of Jesus Christ—the Redeemer of Humanity—will pervade the length and breadth of China; that the Chinese Government will come to a realisation of the far-reaching influence of the services accomplished by the Christian institutions and will help facilitate the onward progress of Christian education, the potential factor in the regeneration of China.

IT'S GRAND TO BE A LANDLORD

Say! I wouldn't be a farmer,
With all his toil and care,
And I wouldn't be a taipan,
Who only gets a share
I wouldn't be the fellow
Who at exchange will grouse,
If I want to get your money
I let-on-terms-my-house.

* * *

It's grand to be a landlord
With capital at large.
I may spend a hunk—
But I get my chunk,
For I charge, and charge, and charge.

A LITTLE STORY FOR PROFITEERS

Dick Turpin is blamed—I suppose—by some plain-minded person, for consuming the means of other people's living. "Nay" says Dick pleasantly to the plain-minded person, "observe how beneficently I spend whatever I get!"

"Yes, Dick" persists the plain-minded person, "but how do you get it?"

"The question," says Dick, "is insidious and irrelevant."

THE MENTAL NEEDS OF LIFE

These, according to Robert Blatchford are KNOWLEDGE, PLEASURE, and INTERCOURSE. And here is how he tells it:

KNOWLEDGE

Of knowledge there are almost numberless branches, and all of them fascinating. Modern science alone is a vast storehouse of interest and delight. Astromony, physiology, botany, chemistry—these words sound dry and forbidding to the man who knows nothing about science; but to the student they are more delightful, more thrilling, and more marvellous than any romance.

PLEASURE

As for pleasures their name is legion. There are such pleasures as walking, rowing, swimming, football, cricket. There are the arts, and the drama. There are the beauties of nature. There are travel and adventure. Mere words cannot convey an idea of the intensity of these pleasures. Music alone is more precious and more delightful than all the pleasures that wealth can buy, or all the carnal luxuries that folly may desire. The varieties of pure, healthy pleasures are infinite.

INTERCOURSE

Then as to intercourse. I mean by that all the happiness that we can get from friendship, from love, from comradeship, and from family ties. These are amongst the best and sweetest things that life can give.

A BIT FRA BOBBY BURNS

From scenes like these old Scotia's grandeur springs,
That makes her lov'd at home, rever'd abroad:
Princes and lords are but the breath of kings,
"An honest man's the noblest work of God:"
And certes, in fair virtue's heavenly road,
The cottage leaves the palace far behind;
What is a Lordling's pomp?—a cumbrous load,
Disguising oft the wretch of human kind,
Studies in arts of hell, in wickedness refin'd!

Do You Know That

Roads made of glass have been suggested for permanent wear.

Old paintings which have been "faked" are now tested by X-rays.

Gen. Wood Tells How U. S. Army Trains Men

There has been considerable speculation on the part of the American public since the adoption in the army of a program of general education and occupational taining as to whether this program receive the approval of all the higher officers of the army. A number of these officers have recently stated their views, expressing themselves as unqualifiedly in favor of this training in trades as a military necessity, stating that an illiterate soldier is a menace and that ability in some skilled trade is indispensable in the soldier of the future. War now utilises all the arts and sciences. The stand on this subject of General Leonard Wood is made clear in the following statement, given to the newspaper press through Universal Service:

BY MAJOR-GENERAL WOOD

Today the United States army is training men, not alone for war, but also for peace, for the great industrial struggle for life's work. Our country gives to its citizens equality of privilege and demands of them in return equality of obligation. It demands of us the best we can give, in peace and in war, in the nation's service.

In order that a man may give the most and the best to the nation: in order that he may be a useful and upstanding citizen in time of peace; that he may serve the nation by discharging his duty to it and to his family, he must be self-sustaining; he must be able to earn enough to live on and, with thrift and economy, to save something for a stormy day, for old age; to be able to marry, to raise his family and to give his children a better chance in the world than he had.

The army now offers the young men of the nation an opportunity to prepare themselves efficiently for life's struggle, at the same time teaching them to be effective soldiers, defenders of the nation in time of war.

Throughout the entire history of the army its standards of honesty, discipline, respect for authority, the law and the rights of others, have been high and have made the certificate of honorable discharge a valuable asset—one which has secured for the man who held it a position because it showed him to be an honest, dependable man.

Under the present system the old standards are retained, and in addition an opportunity is given to the man to learn a trade and prepare himself for an occupation which will make him self-sustaining and a valuable addition to the community in which he elects to live.

Not only may a man learn a trade and fit himself for any occupation, but there are liberal opportunities to acquire a sound education. In other words, a young man can enlist in the army today, receive the military training, live in comfort on a salary which is a liberal one when it is remembered that to it are added food, shelter, clothing, medical attendance and a pension in case of injury or disability and at the same time is given an opportunity to prepare himself to be an efficient, effective citizen after leaving the army.

MAKES GOOD CITIZENS

It is an excellent opportunity and one which young men can accept with advantage to themselves and to the nation. High standards of truth and morality prevail in the army. Full provision is made to meet the religious needs of the men.

Abundant opportunities are given for athletics and wholesome recreation and to many a chance to see foreign lands, to see much of the world.

Indeed, the army today gives an opportunity to those whose previous education has been deficient and whose opportunities have been limited to fit themselves to win out in life's struggle and to leave the army in every way better and more useful men than when they entered it. It makes not only soldiers but upright, useful citizens.

Edison, Hale At 74, Sifts World's Ills

(New York Times, Feb. 20)

Thomas A. Edison didn't wait for his seventy-fourth birthday tomorrow to express his ideas on mankind, Government and a range of other subjects all the way from the sales tax to international disarmament. Instead, he gave an interview yesterday in his Orange (N. J.) laboratory that well might have served as a model for a current topics class of alert youngsters.

Not only did he show that his mental grasp still was firm and broad. When one of his interviewers ventured to interrogate him upon reports that illness had undermined his physical vitality, he sprang from his chair, assumed what is known in the drill regulations as "the position of the soldier," and challenged:

"Do I look it?"

Satisfied that his vigor was not called seriously into question, Mr. Edison proceeded to offer his contributions to some of the perplexing problems of the day. Asked if he looked for a business revival with the change in the National Administration he replied:

"That depends on Mr. Harding and the men he selects for his Cabinet."

Turning to general means for remedying the existing business depression, he said.

"Rearrange and put on a business basis the stupid and bureaucratic form of Government at Washington. Leave the business men to work out their own salvation without so much interference.

WOULD TAX ALL SALES

"Adopt Otto Kahn's plan for a tax of one-third of 1 percent on all sales, and place Hoover in a position in the Government where his great executive ability and experience can be utilised best.

"Let the big bankers get together and organise clearing houses with technical inspectors to exchange commodities instead of credits, buyers and sellers being given a chance to check the quality of the commodity before accepting."

Asked to suggest a means of preventing wars, Mr. Edison declared himself in favor of alliances or understandings between France, England, America, Japan and Italy. He also advocated a 50 percent disarmament.

"I believe, though," he added, "that inexpensive experiments might well be continued so that we could have up-to-date models for every branch of warfare in case the measures to prevent war did not turn out as the nations expected. Then none would have an advantage.

"There probably will be many small wars and the possibility of a large war will extend beyond our own lives at least."

Mr. Edison believed there was danger of war with Japan unless that country were permitted to have more room to accommodate its increasing population.

"But I am absolutely opposed to letting them come over here," he added.

DEMANDS REASONABLE

Mr. Edison did not regard the allied demands for reparation from Germany as excessive, since the payments were to be extended over a period of forty-two years.

"Any time the payments are found to be excessive," he commented, "and Germany presents honest and real facts, the Allies will and must reduce them. It is absurd to keep a man in jail for debt.'

"What remedies would you suggest for the growth in the number of divorces in the United States?" interjected an interviewer.

"I can't answer that," Mr. Edison said. "I didn't know it was serious."

Mr. Edison was pleased with prohibition, saying it was very beneficial to the workingman, but that it would take several years for the law to reach its highest efficiency.

A correspondent asked him if he could give any advice to a young man starting out on a career in the business world.

"I can't give any advice on this subject," he replied. "All I know is that if a man has reached 21 and is dead mentally, no amount of advice, example or experience will ever change him in the slightest. If at some period between 12 and 16 he can be interested in some subject and becomes enthusiastic, he will advance and become a high type of man. If not, he will be a mental dead one."

TO OPPOSE BOLSHEVISM

Mr. Edison favored business men raising a fund to get soap boxes and soap box orators to oppose Bolshevist propagandists on their own ground and in their own way.

"We shall have no trouble with them so long as they do their talking from soap boxes," he added. "We can set up opposition soap boxes."

In the course of the interview, some one asked Mr. Edison's opinion on the business and financial affairs of his friend, Henry Ford.

"Ford could raise all the money he needed by popular subscription," Mr. Edison answered. "He could get $100,000,000. But he doesn't have to do that. He has capital enough."

Hair Falling? Germol Stops It

Try the Remarkable New Hair-Root Nourisher. Notice Difference in a Few Days.

After combing your hair, do you find your comb full of dead and broken off hairs? How long do you suppose this can keep up before you become entirely bald? There is no excuse for this condition, now that the newly discovered hair nourisher, GERMOL, will positively end hair falling within a very short time. GERMOL gives remarkable vigor to the hair roots, where the source of the trouble lies. Every hair is held tightly in its root sac, and your hair stops falling. You can prove this in a short time. GERMOL also stops scalp itching and the condition which results in dandruff. It gives youthful vigor to hair-roots and brings back to the hair its lustrous original color. Your hair will be silky, full of life, luxurious. You need nothing else but GERMOL to give yourself a luxuriant growth of healthy hair. It produces results even in those of advanced years where the hair is grey and thin. Start using it today and solve your hair problem for all time to come. One bottle will prove it.

A Riddle of History

King Henry VIII of England had experience in matrimony. His Cardinal, Wolsey introduced a young lady to Court, Mistress Anne Boleyn, with a view to her marriage with the King, thus hoping to strengthen his interest with the royal tyrant.

Something seems to have gone wrong on this occasion, however, for a contemporary historian, relating the episode, remarks that:

"Mistress Anne was sent home again to her father for a season; whereat she smoked."

What Anne smoked is not related.

But, had Anne smoked a Westminster "Green Jade" Cigarette,

She would certainly have wanted Anne—Other.

Have you tried them yet?

Garrett P. Serviss's Article

Wide Interest In Logarithms Shown By Many Letters Which Followed Recent Article

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

(Famous Astronomer and Writer on Subjects of Scientific Interest)

I have been gratified by the response to a little article that I wrote recently on the intellecutual magic of logarithms. The letters that I have received justify the assumption on which these articles are based, viz., that popular ignorance of, and indifference to, many of the most useful, as well as essentially interesting, operations of primary mathematics and simple mathematical physics, are due only to a faulty, pedantic, over-technical and unsympathetic method of presenting them.

On such a subject as logarithms one cannot go very far in a presentation of this kind. The utmost that I expect or hope for is to awaken interest, to set people to thinking on something of truly great and universal importance which has lain disregarded before the eyes of thousands as the golden sands of California were disregarded until Sutter built his mill-race.

One writer asks for "all possible information about logarithms." An "algebra class" of young ladies ask through their spokeswoman how far the little table given in the former article should be carried.

Unfortunately, my school is extremely elementary. It is no more than the vestibule to a school from which one may hear the busy murmurs in the classrooms, and perhaps catch the charm of the atmosphere of scholarship, and so be induced to enter deeper.

A TRUE TABLE

The table referred to was simply an illustration of the principle of logarithms. It was, however, as far as it went, a true table of logarithms which could actually be employed for calculation, but only when including the particular numbers contained in the table. It would be possible to enrich the table by inserting other numbers between those given. To gratify the young ladies, one or more of whom, I hope, may become Mary Somervilles in two or three decades, I will indicate how this could be done.

The table consists of two parallel columns of numbers, one an arithmetrical series, as 0, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, the other a geometrical series, as 1, 2, 4, 8, 16, 32. In the arithmetical column at each step you add 1; in the geometrical series at each step you multiply by 2. The arithmetical column then represents the respective logarithms of the figures standing opposite in the geometrical column. And the basis of the system is 2, the multiplier by which the successive figures in the geometrical column are obtained.

Now, to make a fuller table you can insert means in both columns between the numbers already there. These means in the arithmetical column would be ½, 1½, 2½, 3½, 4½ and in the geometrical column they would be the square root of 2 between 1 and 2, the square root of 8 between 2 and 4, the square root of 32 between 4 and 8, the square root of 128 between 8 and 16, and the square root of 512 between 16 and 32.

The test is that each of these inserted numbers in the geometrical column must be double its predecessor. In a similar manner you could insert a second set of means in each column, and then a third, etc., thus making the table fuller and fuller. Remember that the mean between two successive numbers in a geometrical series equals the square root of the product of those numbers.

But all this is only for your information in case you should get lost on an uninhabited island, without a book of logarithms in your pocket, so that you would have to make a handy substitute. As long as you remain within the precincts of civilisation it is better, when once your interest in logarithms and their marvelous powers has been aroused, to take advantage of the labors of the industrious computers who have laboriously calculated the common logarithmic tables.

HOW TO PROCEED

In these the base is not 2, which we took for simplicity in showing the principle, but 10. These tables are also calculated with the aid of series, but the procedure is not the same as that which we have employed for illustration, and is too complicated for explanation here. For that you must go to the books. But—you can use the tables exactly as well even if you do not learn to calculate them.

In calculations dealing with vast numbers logarithms become an implement as powerful as the lever imagined by Archimedes by which he could upset the earth. For instance imagine you had occasion to know about what 16 would amount to if multiplied by itself, 44 times, i. e., raised to the 44th power.

It would take some time and patience to do that sum by arithmetic, but a minute or two suffice for an approximate solution by logarithms. The logarithm of 16 is 1.2041. Multiply that by 44, and you get 52.9704, which is the logarithm of the 44th power of 16. Look up the decimal part, 9704, in the table and you will find that it corresponds to the number 9342, to which you must annex enough ciphers to make the whole number contain 53 figures ahead of the decimal point, i. e., one more than the characteristic of the logarithm, 52.

So you find that 16 multiplied by itself 44 times produces the stupendous product of ninety-three sexdecillions plus four hundred and twenty quindecillions. But note the prodigality of logarithms which soars to magnificence. When they deal with sexdecillions, quindecillions, and quatordecillions they superbly throw away such insignificances as billions and trillions.

Checking Up On Father

BY DR. WM. A. McKEEVER

(Professor In The University Of Kansas And An Authority On Child Training)

My boy, I heard you talking today with half a dozen other happy high school youths. One of you said something about "The Old Man," and another remarked that his dad was "always getting off some old fogy idea." How familiar that all sounds to me as it re-echoes the long ago. "My old dad!" indeed. Now, my boy, I want you to try a trick on the "old fogy."

Take your pencil and make a schedule. Let's get a line on his problems. Are you one of these?

What do you see in your father's life that needs attention? As you make an inventory of his talents, possessions and achievements, do you observe any point whereat you might contribute something to his well-being? Is he overworked? Is he annoyed with petty details which you should attend to?

Is he required to do extra time in order to keep you up with your class? Are you giving him any grief because of your shiftlessness? Is there an hour per day when you might take your turn at his place and thus both believe him and learn something on your own account? Is Father paying too much of your expense and so "babying you that you are likely to become a learner?" Is he sacrificing too much and giving his life up too fast for the comfort of the family?

It is a bold and courageous duty to which I am here calling you, my boy. It is the task of searching through your father's life to find its rhythm or unbalance, as the case may be; and in the act of seeking to know another to stumble perchance upon your own soul.

More Talk Of Charles As King Of Hungary

Intense Hapsburg Propaganda In Army, Civil Service And Clergy

Vienna, Feb. 6.—The restoration of the monarchy, whether with a Hapsburg or some other scion of royalty as king, continues to be the main subject of controversy between political parties in Hungary, and the present Government bloc has been split on this issue. At a recent meeting of this bloc a vote was taken which resulted in a narrow majority for those in favor of an immediate solution of the question as against the motion of Count Teleki, the Prime Minister, for a postponement of a decision.

At a meeting of the National Assembly, however, the Government had a large majority in favor of postponement on the ground that if the matter were to become one of practical politics it would divide the country and bring trouble from the Allies and the neighboring States. But even now Count Teleki is faced with the necessity of forming a new Government.

In the course of the Parliamentary discussion Count Apponyi, one of the most redoubtable supporters of ex-Emperor Charles, admitted that he had called on the exile at Prangins.

"During my stay in Switzerland," he said, "I deemed it a holy task to wait upon my crowned king.

Charles seems to think that such holy tasks may be performed in Budapest soon, as Hungarian ex-Premier Simonyi-Semadan said in the debate that a letter had been received by a high personage from the exiled king, who said he thought March would be a fit month for his return. Simonyi-Semadan added that intense Hapsburg propaganda was being carried on in the army and the civil service and among the clergy.

Teleki admitted the existence of the letter referred to, but denied that Charles had inquired as to the prospects of the month of March, having merely said that his French and English friends had informed him that his prospects looked somewhat brighter.

German Buying Up Austrian Newspapers

Syndicate Acquiring Them In Order To Carry On Greater Propaganda

Geneva, Feb. 6.—Much alarm is felt here by every one anxious that Europe should soon settle down again, owing to an announcement that a German newspaper syndicate, headed by the Deutsche Zeitung of Berlin, has bought the Viennese Deutsche Tageszeitung, which will henceforth be an organ of the Greater Germany Party.

Some of the leading Austrian provincial papers have also been bought by the same German syndicate, and the purchase of others is being negotiated.

The managing editor of the entire newspaper syndicate will be the well-known reactionary and Pan Germanist, Dr. Hartmeyer of Berlin.

The reason for purchasing the newspapers is to stifle public opinion in Austria.
